Chapter 6

Wanderlust

How crisp the air! The road called like a siren to sailor... I had to go.
I took the wheel, steering wheel feels like an old lover in my hands. Familiar, the one I always go back to.

Of course, I had let her down.
She who ran away to travel the road with me. But I can choose if I want more than a wolf can change his carnative ways. In the end, my one true love will always be the long, winding, curving road.

Where will it take me? I have yet to know.

Chapter 3

A New Beginning

We had the air smelled so fresh, the sky looked so blue, and the people acted so friendly. We were in love... and we were free.
Everything was perfect
when you're in love.

We did have however, we had to leave... inseparable.
Thinking broken it, it was probably the best time of my life... those early days.
Gotta do we know that...
